JUDGE LILLIAN K. SING ANNOUNCES RETIREMENT AFTER MORE THAN 30 YEARS AS A SAN FRANCISCO JURIST

Division of the SF Superior Court

SAN FRANCISCO -- Judge Lillian K. Sing, who is known as a trailblazer, devoted community leader and mentor who was sought out to speak and teach jurists throughout the U.S. and Asia, is retiring September 17 after serving as a Judge in San Francisco for more than three decades.

"I am grateful to have had the opportunity to be a jurist of this great institution for over 32 years," Judge Sing said. "I have spent some of the best years of my life alongside some of the most dedicated and talented judges and staff of this Court. My mother always told me that I was born to serve. As Pope Paul VI said, 'If you want peace, work for justice.' That has always been my motto and I will continue to strive for peace and work for justice."

Judge Sing's tireless commitment to justice fueled a lifelong passion for helping others inside and outside the courtroom – qualities that she honed prior to her law career when she obtained higher education degrees in psychology and social work. Her deep community connections, leadership ability and abundant energy led to numerous enduring achievements in which she served as a founding member, including the launch of San Francisco's award-winning Drug Court; Chinese for Affirmative Action (1971-1999); Asian American Bar Association (1976); and the Rape of Nanking Redress Coalition (1998-present). Her willingness to help Asian Americans in the community and the legal profession led to countless awards, teaching activities and travels to Asia.

Judge Sing was just as ubiquitous inside the Court. Among her colleagues, she achieved the distinction of the only sitting Judge who has presided in every Court division.

"After 32 years, it's hard to comprehend that Judge Sing will no longer be with us on a daily basis," Presiding Judge John K. Stewart said. "It is the end of an era. So many of the collaborative courts, policies, procedures and traditions that we now take for granted were due to Judge Sing's leadership, hard work and dedication. She is truly one-of-a-kind."

Judge Cynthia Ming-mei Lee, who served as Presiding Judge in 2013-14, added, "As the first Asian American female Judge on our Court, Judge Sing has been a trailblazer and a mentor to the Asian Judges on the Bench. She has served the Court exceedingly well over the three-plus decades here, serving in every division, an accomplishment few Judges have achieved. Judge Sing set the example for our Bench of compassion, dignity, collegiality and openness to new ways of achieving justice. It is a real loss to the Court."

Assistant Presiding Judge Teri L. Jackson said, "During Judge Sing's tenure on the Bench as well as her work before joining the Bench, she has worked tirelessly for fairness and justice, and for those who did not have a voice. She is the ultimate role model."

In recognition of her vast experience and standing in the legal community, Judge Sing has served as a Faculty Judge in 1987 and 1992 for the California Center for Judicial Education & Research and the National Judicial College in 2002.

An enthusiastic supporter of judicial exchanges, Judge Sing hosted numerous visiting foreign delegations, which led to invitations for her to travel to China for similar programs.
